

MOST STYLISH

RED CARPET : KING FELIPE VI AND QUEEN LETIZIA MADE AN OFFICIAL VISIT TO THE US

September 19, 2015

The Spanish couple began their trip with a visit to first president George Washington's Mount Vernon Estate

The pair got a tour of the estate, meeting volunteers dressed in period costume, and laid a wreath at the tomb of the first president of the United States.

It may have been her birthday but it was business as usual for Queen Letizia, who celebrated turning 43 on her first official visit to America with her husband King Felipe VI.

The royals met up with President Barack Obama and his wife, Michelle, at the White House, where Letizia, who was turning 43, enjoyed afternoon tea with the First Lady and toured her organic vegetable garden.

US President Barack Obama meets with Spain's King Felipe VI

They ended her first day in the U.S. with a glamorous soiree on Capitol Hill alongside senators Tim Caine and John Barrasso.

King Felipe and Queen Letizia at Georgetown University , September 16, 2015 in Washington

King Felipe and Queen Letizia visited Miami Dade College and attended the presentation of the Spanish Film Festival.

Felipe, 47, was given the Presidential Medal at the Miami Dade College, where he gave a lecture to more than 1,000 people

The King And Queen Of Spain Visit St Augustine

On Sept. 18, the royal couple looked airy and fresh, smiling and waving to fans while visiting the Castillo San Marcos during the 450th anniversary of the city. The King wore a sharp light gray Summer suit, with Letizia sporting one of her favorite floral skirts.

King Felipe VI Spain at the Castillo de San Marcos during St. Augustine's 450th Commemoration, Sept. 18, 2015, St. Augustine, Fla.